Group communication/GitHub

Reminder: we are now a GitHub Organization (<https://github.com/TampaUseRs>)

We're using this preferentially over Meetup for communications, etc

Within this Org, we have a site (<https://tampausers.github.io/>)

See instructions on landing page for joining and getting to discussion/project boards

This idea was proposed by @vkegel over on the Meetup board. I moved it here with the hope that the GitHub site will make it more visible/encourage discussion.

"Any thoughts on working on working on some type of group project?"

I like this idea quite a lot, particularly if we can align it with a philanthropic cause. Hoping someone in the group might be able to suggest/connect us with an area of need with respect to data science.

I like the idea too. I wonder if there's any problem in education and classrooms that we can help solve. I will ask the teachers I know.
